

Readers' Theatre

Boots for the King

Cast

Narrator

King

Queen

Mick

Queen: It is wet out.

King: I need boots.

Queen: The king needs boots.

Mick: I have boots.

Narrator: Mick got in his truck. Mick went to the king.

Mick: Here are your boots.

King: Thank you.

Mick: Your boots look good.

King: Yes. My boots look good.

Queen: Where are you going?

King: I'm going out.

Queen: It is wet out.

King: It is fun.

Narrator: The king went SPLASH!

Queen: I need boots.

Trace these words.

Choose words to make sense in the spaces. Write the words in the spaces.

are	went	said	you	look	the	going	have	out	your	is
-----	------	------	-----	------	-----	-------	------	-----	------	----

“It is wet out,” _____ the queen.

“I need boots,” said _____ king.

“I _____ boots,” said Mick.

Mick _____ to the king.

“Here _____ your boots.”

“Thank _____,” said the king.

“_____ boots look good,” said

Mick.

“My boots _____ good,”

said the king.

“Where are you _____?”

said the queen.

“I’m going _____,” said the king.

“It _____ wet out,” said the queen.

“I _____ boots,” said the king.

Cut out the word boxes. Move all the words to make 3 sentences.

your	said	Here	boots	are	Mick.
you	said	king.	Thank	the
Your	said	good	boots	look	Mick.

What are Mick, the queen and the king saying?

 Write your own story.

