I feel like crying. Tiger has gone missing.

Tell me, when did you last see your cat?

On Monday. Almost three days ago.

I'm sure he will come back! They always do.

But he never stays away for so long.

Something is scratching at the door.

I miss him so much. He must be dead.

Don't be silly. I'm going to have a look.

Ran over by a car, or hit by lightning.

Well, well. Who have we got here? Alive!

Tiger, my sweetie. Yuck! What's that?

It looks like a mouse to me. A dead one.

What have you done? Get out of here!

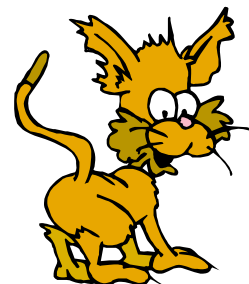

But didn't you want him back?

Ask a classmate the following questions.

- 1 Do you have a pet animal?
- 2 If you don't, would you like to have one?
- 3 Are there many cats in your neighbourhood?
- 4 Have you ever stepped in dog poop?
- 5 Some people are afraid of dogs. Are you?
- 6 What would you do when your pet was missing?

Yes dad. History. The things of the past.

I can't hear you. There is too much noise.

Noise? That's my favourite music!

I can't hear myself anymore. Turn it down.

But it helps me to concentrate.

Well, it helps me to get angry.

Alright. Is this better?

It is. I can even hear you now! Keep it low.

I will. But it's harder to study now.

That's exactly how it was in the past!

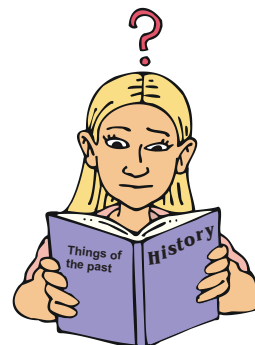

Don't forget that this is the present dad!

Going down the waterslide!

Practise this dialogue with a classmate.

The weather forecast with Jim Kent.

Quiet everyone! I really want to hear this.

Cloudy and rainy spells all day.

Yes, I can see and feel that for myself.

The weekend will be sunny and warm.

Now you're talking Jim! That's good news.

But next week, it will start raining again.

You know that's not what I want to hear.

So raincoats on and umbrellas up.

Stop it man. Just give me some sunshine.

Don't forget to enjoy the weather today.

It's raining. What kind of advice is that?

Thanks for listening to our news report.

I wish you listened to me for once!
